

Will you help me take a Next Step?

We've been packing Food Bags

Each school year, Cokesbury partners with Second Harvest Food Bank to provide supplemental food bags each week to vulnerable children who run the risk of finding an empty cupboard over the weekend at home.

Cokesbury Kids has been part of this endeavor by packing the food bags during their Wednesday evening ministry time. This past school year, they packed nearly 5000 bags for students at Hardin Valley Elementary and Maynard Elementary schools...with the help of some very special adults!

I'm Ready For The Next Step

This year, Cokesbury Kids would like to take a Next Step by helping to provide the funds to purchase the food items that they pack. It takes $100 to supply food bags for one child for a school year.

Will you support me as I walk a mile to take next steps against hunger? Your gift is truly appreciated!